
Post-War Recovery through European Integration

Vladyslav Rashkovan,
IMF
Kyiv, June 21, 2024

1. Ukraine goes through different complex processes now. Concurrent, not consequent approach may help winning the war and losing the victory

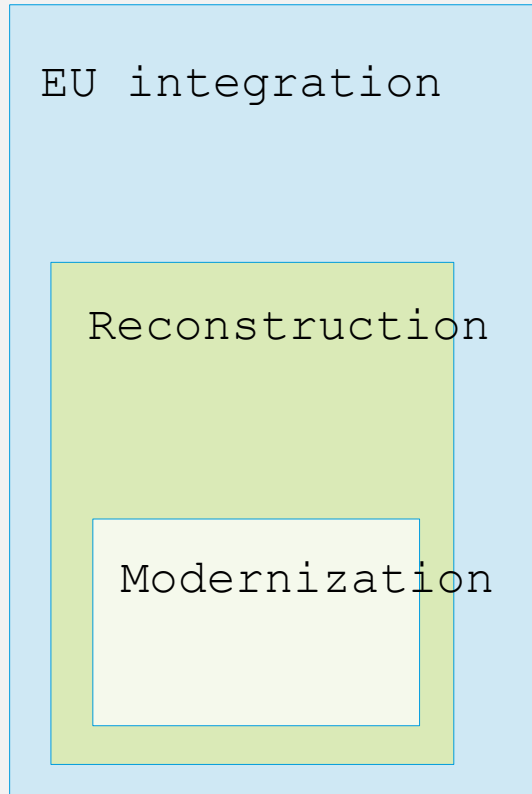

2. To go through crossroads of reconstruction a comprehensive architecture is being built

The current recovery infrastructure is not going to be enough or ready for the post-war efforts - New architecture (and maybe several parallel systems - to test different options) to be built; 2024-2025 are the years of the experiments with reconstruction models

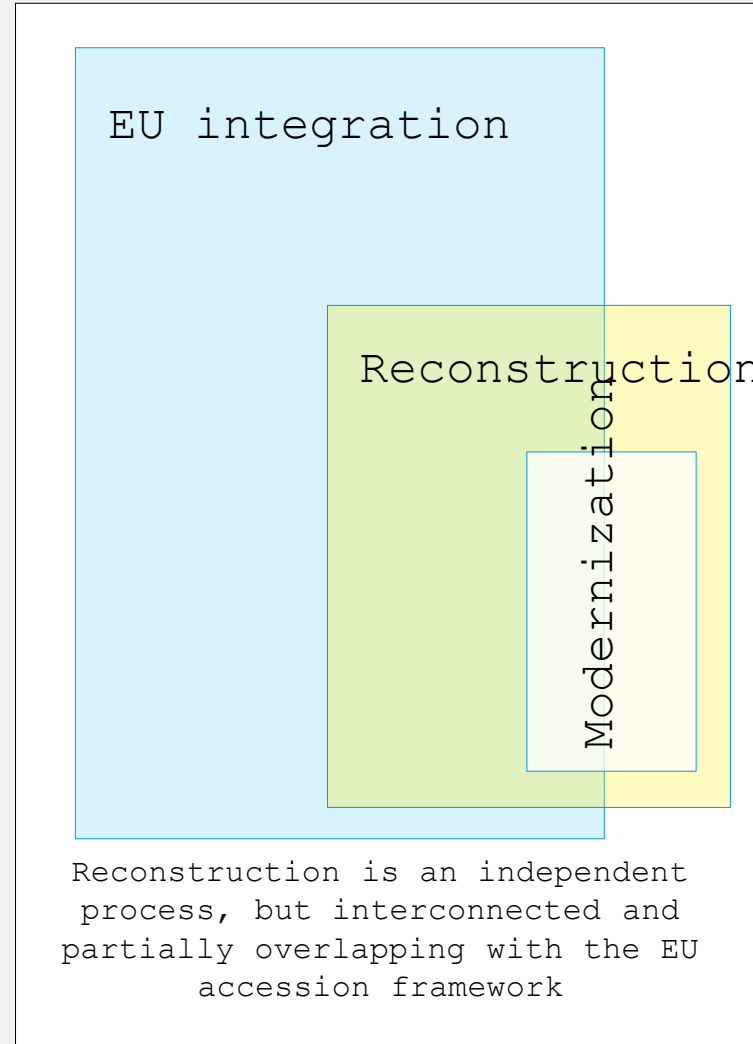

3. Reconstruction / modernization plan and EU accession path should become the interconnected processes

Integral process

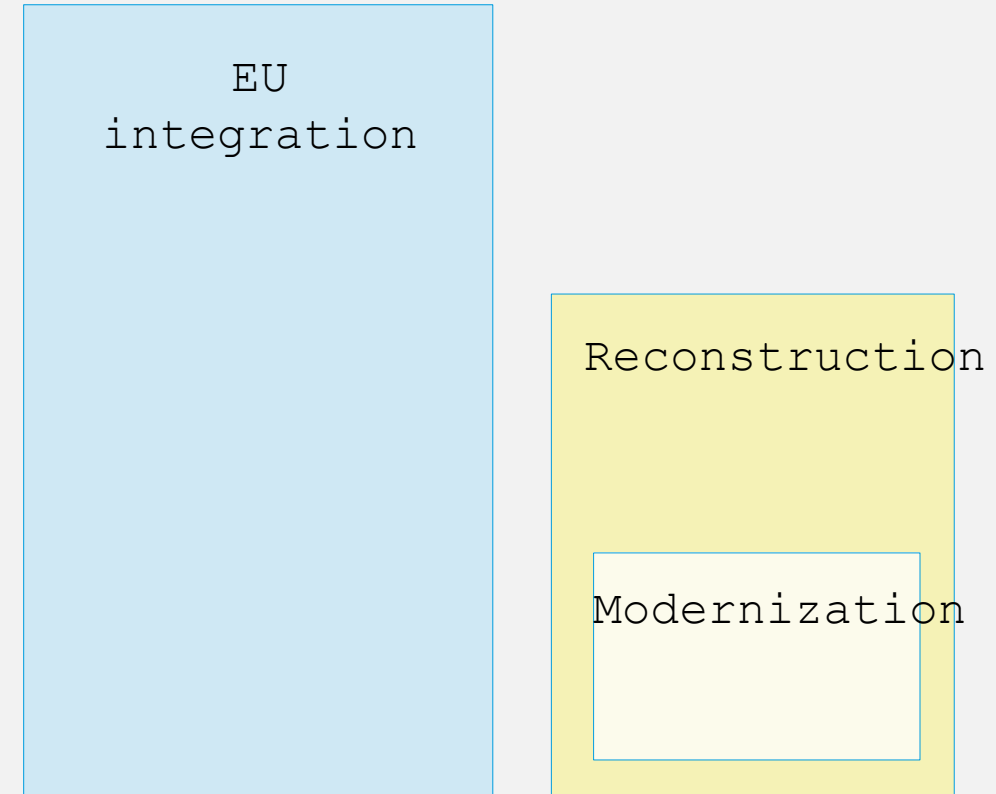

Reconstruction and modernization are an integral part of the EU accession path

Interconnected process

Reconstruction is an independent process, but interconnected and partially overlapping with the EU accession framework

Parallel process

Reconstruction and EU accession are two processes, governed completely independently